LEWIS MAKES THIRD ESCAPE FROM PRISON

In Line When Revellie Sounds;
Answers to Roll Call in
His Striped Suit

COLORED SOLDIER SAWS
HIS WAY OUT OF JAIL

Wanted to Show What He Could Do With "Cute Little Collar Box" of Guard House

Sawing his way to brief freedom through two-inch iron bars that served to guard a small window in a concrete cell at Castner, after removing shackles that bound him to a 100-pound steel wheel belonging to a gun carriage, Herman Lewis, colored, enlisted man from Company K, 25th Infantry, serving a sentence of 21 years, upon three charges of highway robbery, several convictions of larceny of articles ranging from an army revolver to an automobile, is again a prisoner on the federal military reservation.

Lewis has figured in three sensational as well as successful escapes from military prisons on this island. His last effort, in which he regained his liberty shortly after 2 o'clock this morning, proved dramatic in the extreme.

To the utter astonishment of the officers and the guard at Lelehu this morning, Lewis, yet arrayed in prison apparel, stepped into the line when reveille was sounded shortly after 6 o'clock, when the men were checked off in answer to roll call.

"I wanted to show them what I could do with that cute little collar box of a guard house," is the statement attributed to Lewis when questioned following his recapture and return to the place where he has been confined awaiting a transfer to one of the big federal penitentiaries on the mainland.

It was a steel file, passed to the nervous colored man from the outside, that served him well in breaking his bondage. The work of severing the bars was conducted over a period of several days and nights, the prisoner employing dark colored wax to conceal the cutting. The filing is alleged to have been done while a guard patrolled the beat within a few feet of the place in which Lewis was confined.

Sought interview with woman. While Lewis this morning refused to comment much upon his sensational escape, it is learned that he sought an interview with a Porto Rican woman, with whom he lived before his incarceration.

Failing to locate this person, who up to some days ago resided in Honolulu before taking passage in a liner for the coast, the colored desperado admitted that he was willing to return to captivity.

The room in which Lewis had been locked up previous to his last getaway from Castner, was in a newly constructed concrete building. As an extra precaution, a solid steel band had been forged, which was riveted around this man's right leg. To this was affixed a steel chain which was securely fastened to a wheel that would easily weigh 100 pounds. As an "Oregon boot," the leg iron was declared by the military authorities to defy the effort of the most experienced criminal.

Lewis Was Bold Highwayman. Three times has Lewis enacted the role of lone highwayman and at the point of either a real or a phony weapon stood up automobile chauffeurs and passengers near Moana.

HONOLULU WILL CELEBRATE ON FOURTH OF JULY

Honolulu is to have a public celebration on the Fourth of July, and the new Chamber of Commerce of Honolulu, through its committee on reception and entertainment, is in charge of the arrangements.

The committee, consisting of A. J. Campbell, chairman, Tom Sharp, James D. Dole, J. A. Kennedy, J. A. Halc and Secretary Raymond C. Brown, has not yet decided the definite details, said Secretary Brown this morning. The plans include the firing of a salute, reading of the Declaration of Independence, possible singing of patriotic songs by school children and other exercises of like nature, to be held in the capitol grounds beginning about 10 o'clock on the morning of the Fourth.

Senator Rice Given Evidence of Support on the Valley Isle

Charles A. Rice.

Senator Charles A. Rice of Kanai, candidate for the Republican nomination for delegate to Congress, is in Honolulu today just long enough to see the Maui-Oahu polo game. He will leave this evening for Hawaii to continue his first swing around the political circuit.

Rice arrived this morning from Maui, where he spent three days. While he disclaims any feeling of over-confidence, the fact remains that he was given assurances by Republican leaders of the Valley Isle that he will roll up a big vote there. In fact, Maui is expected to go strongly for Rice, though in talking prospects this morning he said merely, "Things look pretty good."

He spent most of the time in Wailuku, also visiting Lahaina, Kahului, Puunene and other points.

Though Senator Rice is not playing polo much this year, he always follows the big series closely and this afternoon forgot politics entirely and went to the Maui-Oahu game.

He will make but a short trip to the Big Island, as he has not formally opened his campaign. He will confer with some of the Republican leaders of Hawaii with reference to prospects here and to make arrangements for his future campaign work. He expects to reach Honolulu again tomorrow, where a number of leading Republicans this morning.

HOLT HAS HARD JOB BRINGING DOYLE WITNESSES

Former Wives of Indicted Man
Are Causing Marshal Trouble;
Case Set for June 29

Although the case against Joseph Doyle and Maude Schurmann Doyle, charged a statutory offense, has been set for hearing in the federal court June 29, it now is evident that some little trouble will be experienced in bringing to Honolulu from the coast three important witnesses, Miss Edna Ferguson Doyle and Viola Lukens Doyle, former wives of Doyle, and Mrs. Ferguson.

On June 15 Acting Marshal Harry Holt sent cablegrams to the marshals in Tacoma and San Francisco advising them to have Edna Ferguson and Viola Lukens in Honolulu for the hearing. A reply from the marshal of Tacoma, received by Holt June 15, was to the effect that Miss Ferguson and her mother were in Seattle and stating that the latter was ill and could not leave June 25 for Honolulu. In reply, Marshal Holt informed the Tacoma executive that the marshal in San Francisco had advanced Edna Ferguson and her mother $75, they having stated previously that they had insufficient funds to proceed from Seattle to San Francisco. It was stated in the cable that the couple had left San Francisco on their own volition without the knowledge of the marshal.

Yesterday Marshal Harry Holt received a cablegram from the San Francisco marshal to the effect that two of the witnesses left San Francisco for Seattle June 12 without his knowledge. The Tacoma marshal, he stated, had reported that she was unable to proceed to Honolulu on account of illness and on account of insufficient funds to pay expenses from Seattle. The other witnesses, Viola Lukens, now is ready to proceed to Honolulu, says the cable.

Marshals Holt yesterday sent a cablegram to the marshal in San Francisco to the effect that the Doyle case had been continued until June 29, and that the presence of Viola Lukens will be necessary on that day. The Tacoma marshal has been notified to send Mrs. Edna Ferguson Doyle and Mrs. Ferguson at the first opportunity.

LICENSES HELD UP; COMMISSION PROBES STATUS

Saloon Men Quietly Examined
by Authorities With Reference to Brewery Interests

PERMITS TO BE DECIDED AT WEDNESDAY MEETING

Facts Behind Protests and Rumors
are Being Thoroughly Investigated

In a strenuous effort to unearth the facts behind rumors that brewery interests are lacking certain saloons in Honolulu in defiance of the restrictions, the liquor license commission yesterday called before it a number of saloon men. The meeting, held in the office of Chairman A. L. Castle, was not open to the public as the commission wished to get quietly at the bottom of the various cases and secure a frank discussion.

It could not be learned today that any definite information, other than that already in its possession, was gained by the commission. This will probably come out at a meeting of the commission scheduled for next Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the senate chamber, which will be open to the public.

At this meeting the license applications on which action was postponed this week will be taken up and probably all the pending business of this nature cleared away.

The licenses on which action will probably be taken next week are: Progress Saloon, Waikiki Inn, Kiloana Saloon, Fashion Saloon, Encore Saloon, Kentucky Saloon, Royal Annex, Pacific Saloon, Lelehu Beer Garden, Rora & Company, Kahului Saloon, Waipahu Saloon, Anchor Saloon, Watertown Saloon, Wing Chung Lung, Prost Saloon, S. Ozaki, Choy On and the Banai Saloon.

The main protests have arisen over the saloons in the immediate neighborhood of the fishmarket, Waikiki Inn, and the Lelehu Beer Garden.

CHINESE AND JAPANESE WILL BUILD HOSPITAL

Fl. Shafter Improvement Bids
Opened by Col. Cheatham—
Proposals Complicated

The River Mill Co., a Chinese corporation of which Chang Chan is president, and George Yamada, a Japanese contractor, were low bidders on the Fort Shafter hospital addition contract, proposals for which were opened by Lieut. Col. L. Frank Cheatham, department quartermaster, this morning. Yamada bid on the three ward buildings only, while the River Mill Co. put in several combination bids. All other bidders stipulated that the award should be all of the work or none. The Chinese company was also low for the entire job, but its figure for the three wards did not meet that of Yamada, so the chances are that the job will be split between the two, although no award will be made for several days.

The proposals were extremely complicated, as there were no less than 27 separate items enumerated. The improvements include three hospital ward buildings, one isolation ward building, one hospital corps dormitory, one operating building, ward rooms, ward locker rooms, and an office. It took almost an hour to go through the figures.

Following are the totals of the bidders for the contract complete: River Mill Co., $118,930; Lord Young Engineering Co., $125,000; Pacific Engineering Co., $133,126; Spalding Construction Co., $133,200. Yamada's bid for the three wing wards was $48,560.

BALL GAME OFF BUT POLO MATCH BEING PLAYED

Owing to the heavy rain of this morning the baseball game at Athletic park between the Portuguese and the University of California, scheduled for this afternoon, will not be played. While it was thought for a while this morning that it might be necessary to postpone the polo match between Oahu and Maui, it was later decided that the rain had not been sufficiently heavy to render the field unplayable.

NATIVE WORD FOR CARNIVAL IS SUGGESTED

Mrs. C. B. Kinney of Paia
Maui, Writes Director-General;
Proposes 'Hoonanao'

WOULD HAVE MEETING OF
LADIES IN HONOLULU

Letter Contains Many Ideas for Entertainment of Crowds
During 1915 Event

From Paia, Maui, comes some suggestion for carrying out the 1915 Mid-Pacific Carnival which Director-General James D. Dougherty believes might be well worth following out. The suggestions are contained in a letter to Mr. Dougherty from Mrs. C. B. Kinney, who is well-known on the Valley Isle, and point out, among other things, that instead of referring to the celebration as a "Carnival," some Hawaiian word should be adopted which would convey a similar meaning. They also point out that the services of the women of the city be enlisted in the work of making the carnival a success, and then outlines elaborate city decorations to be installed for the week of celebration.

The letter follows: "I followed with interest your outline in the rough of the so-called carnival festivities for 1915 and appreciate probably better than many others the magnitude of your undertaking, having been closely connected with the fiestas of California.

I have a few suggestions to propound which I trust will be received in the same spirit as that which urges me to offer them.

In the first place the word "Carnival" is not suggestive of Hawaii. Let us make it Hawaiian in every sense of the word; as start in with a Hawaiian name. Why not call it the "Hoonanao"? I am told that this word is elastic in its significance as our "Aloha." For instance it stands for "Carnival," "Celebration," "Festivities," etc., etc., and is not difficult of pronunciation. This is just a suggestion—you probably will find another word which would appeal more strongly.

"Now, Mr. Dougherty, to create a 'Hoonanao' upon the highest and the lowest—we must all be thoroughly imbued with the conviction that the ultimate success of the 'Hoonanao' depends upon our united efforts. Why not call a meeting of the ladies of Honolulu who are interested? And believe me you can make Honolulu radiantly beautiful only with their cooperation. District the town—these ladies appointing sub-committees in each district who in turn will report at least once during the month. We followed this plan in California and it worked like charm. To give you an idea of what I mean: Let each one of these sub-committees call upon every one in their district and enlist their assistance so they will each and every one arrange their gardens no matter how tiny, nor what flowers are used—bearing in mind to plant the seeds so they will be in bloom during the 'Hoonanao.' If they have no space for a garden, a clean window and a window box full of flowers. Make them understand it is their 'Hoonanao,' clean up their yards and so on. Does not this idea appeal to you? It's everybody's 'Hoonanao'—belongs equally to those upon whom fortune has not smiled as much as it does to the more favored ones.

To illustrate: We had one district

"MYSTERIOUS MAN" SELLS INSURANCE IN NEW YORK TOWN

William M. Offley, a prominent insurance man of New York City and formerly an attorney, who is now visiting in Honolulu, is being strongly touted as the "mysterious man" who recently visited the federal court room prior to a hearing by the grand jury in the McCarn-McBride affair, and who was the butt of many rumors to the effect that he was shortly to take a part in the proceedings.

A friend of the New York attorney yesterday gave out the information that Mr. Offley is the "mysterious man," but that there is nothing mysterious about him. According to the friend's story, Mr. Offley was passing the federal court building last Monday day, and seeing a crowd going in, decided that he would follow along and see what was doing. Learning the details of the investigation, he introduced himself to Mr. McCarn, says the friend, and after conversing some little time with the district attorney, was introduced to Attorney Lightfoot. The friend goes on to say that Mr. Offley then excused himself on the ground that he had some letters to write, whereupon he was offered the services of Mr. McCarn's stenographer. Then, concludes the friend, Mr. McCarn and Mr. Offley went into the former's office, and thereby hung a tale for a few days.

M'CARN FAILS TO TAKE CASE OUT OF LOCAL COURT

Pleas to the Jurisdiction and Motion to Quash Overruled
by Judge Robinson

DEMURRER TO INDICTMENT
WILL BE ARGUED MONDAY

Hearing Attracts Many Legal
Lights—Brown Defends
Form of Indictment

In rapid order and with very little argument, Judge W. J. Robinson of the circuit court overruled three pleas to the jurisdiction, and one motion to quash, and set the demurrer to the indictment upon which J. E. McCarn, U. S. district attorney, is held for an alleged assault upon Claudius McBride, the Hilo attorney, down for argument for Monday morning at 9 o'clock.

The pleas to the jurisdiction were made by Jeff McCarn himself, in his proper person, as the legal phrase puts it, and were signed also by his counsel. Three points were raised to base the attack on the right of the court to hold the defendant on the indictment, the first being that the appointment of a third judge to the first division of the circuit court was illegal, and the second that as Judge Robinson's commission has expired he is no longer qualified to sit or act as a judge in the court. The third one rested on the ground that the federal and not the territorial court has jurisdiction, the offense charged having been committed in a building leased by the United States government.

Judge Robinson overruled the first two points at once, saying that the supreme court has already decided them in favor of his jurisdiction, and the third point was overruled also after some argument, which was mainly made by Attorney L. Andrews, associated with A. M. Brown, deputy

GOVERNOR AND AIDE SAIL FOR HILO THIS P. M.

Pinkham Expects to Learn
Much During Visit—Captain Dougherty Along

Accompanied by Captain James D. Dougherty as an aide and companion on the trip, Governor Pinkham will sail this afternoon at 5:30 o'clock on the Mauna Kea for Hilo, where he will remain for a week studying the conditions on the Big Island as a guest of the Hilo Board of Trade.

The governor said this morning that everything as far as he knows will be carried out as planned, and that during his week on Hawaii he expects to learn a good many facts about that island.

A letter has been received by Attorney Carl S. Carlsmith of Hilo from the governor in which he states that he will be at the disposal of the Board of Trade's entertainment committee, and by this letter the committee have taken it for granted that he will remain on the island until June 29.

The program tentatively outlined at the meeting of the committees in Hilo on Wednesday will be made the permanent program. Whether the public entertainment as well as the public business can be disposed of by Wednesday or Thursday will depend entirely on the governor's condition and desires.

Everything will be in readiness and it will be for him to say how he prefers to handle it. If he would rather take up all the details of business at once and get rid of them rapidly he should be able to have several days of absolute leisure and rest toward the end of his visit. But if he desires to take things easily he may do so, taking up only one subject each day, going over the situation thoroughly in the morning with the committee appointed to attend to that one, and then having each afternoon to himself.

As the program was outlined by George H. Vicens, of the entertainment committee, the governor is to be taken down to Pahoa and thence up to the Volcano House Sunday, spending the night at the Volcano House and returning to Hilo Monday morning. He may be taken on a ride over the Hilo railway to Paauhau and return.

NINE MILITARY AVIATORS KILLED IN COLLISION AT VIENNA ARMY MANEUVERS

Biplane and Dirigible Run Together at Altitude of 1500 Feet and Entire Crew of Both Air-Crafts is Dead—Bodies Badly
Mangled From Fall From Great Height—Accident
May Cause Postponement of Extensive Military Manuevers.

[Associated Press service by Federal Wireless.]

VIENNA, Austria, June 20.—Nine military aviators met death here today as the result of the collision between a biplane and a dirigible balloon. The machines were at an altitude of 1500 feet when the collision occurred and the entire crew of both was killed, the bodies being frightfully mangled when they reached the earth.

This accident, one of the worst ever recorded in this country and the worst in Europe for some time past, has thrown a damper around military maneuvers which were in progress and it is possible that they may be postponed until some later date.

Many of the military aviators, it is believed, will be too nervous, as a result of the accident, to proceed with the extensive aviation plans that had been outlined.

NIAGARA FALLS, Canada, June 20.—Senator Dr. Romulo S. Naon, Argentine minister in attendance at the mediations of the trouble between the United States and Mexico, today issued a statement to the effect that the conference will be continued for at least two weeks longer.

Dr. Naon expressed grave doubts as to whether the controversy could be amicably settled in the length of time mentioned, saying that the split between Generals Villa and Carranza was widening hourly and that there appeared but little hope for bringing the warring warriors together.

WILL EXAMINE PACIFIC COAST FISH INDUSTRY

[By Latest Mail]

WASHINGTON.—The investigation of the salmon and other fish industries on the Pacific Coast is to be undertaken by Dr. C. Lester Jones, deputy United States Commissioner of Fisheries. He conferred with President Wilson and plans to leave for Alaska soon. Bills for safeguarding fish industries are being held up in Congress pending his report.

It is likely that the criminal calendar will be called in Judge Robinson's court Monday morning. A. M. Brown, deputy city and county attorney, stated in court this morning that he wished to have several cases set down for trial at that time.

HARVARD WINS THIRD

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

BOSTON, Mass., June 20.—Harvard won the third game of the series here today.

To oppose the proposed Maui $119,000 bond issue, a plebiscite on which will be held next Saturday, D. Kahalo, editor of the Aloha Aina, will leave for Maui to make speeches at Lahaina and several other towns. While W. W. Thayer, secretary of the territory, will be on the island speaking on behalf of the bond issue, the editor will be nearly speaking against it. Secretary Thayer left yesterday for Maui to be gone several days.
